

THE COUNTY OF MONTGOMERY
POLICIES AND PROCEDURES
FALSE CLAIMS AND WHISTLEBLOWER PROTECTIONS

POLICY

It is the obligation of the County of Montgomery (the “County”) to prevent and detect any fraud, waste and abuse in its organization related to Federal and State health care programs (Medicare, Medicaid and other governmental payer programs). To this end, the County maintains a vigorous Compliance Program and strives to educate our work force regarding the importance of submitting accurate claims and reports to Federal and State governments, as well as regarding the requirements, rights and remedies of Federal and State laws governing the submission of false claims, including the rights of employees to be protected as whistleblowers under such laws. The County prohibits the knowing submission of a false claim for payment in relation to a Federal or State funded health care program. Such a submission violates the Federal False Claims Act as well as various state laws, and may result in significant civil and/or criminal penalties.

PURPOSE

Under the Deficit Reduction Act (“DRA”) of 2005, and Chapter 442 of the laws of 2006, which established the New York State Office of the Medicaid Inspector General (hereinafter the “OMIG”), created a new Social Services Law 363-d, the County is committed to the education and requirement of all employees, medical staff, volunteers, contractors, vendors, and residents that the County is committed to prevent fraud and abuse through.

SCOPE

This policy applies to all County employees, contractors, medical staff, volunteers, vendors, and residents.

PROCEDURE

A. Fraud and Abuse Detection, Prevention and Employee Protection

To assist the County in meeting its legal and ethical obligations, the Health System expects and encourages any employee who is aware of or reasonably suspects the preparation of submission of a false claim or report or any other potential fraud, waste, or abuse related to a Federally or State funded health care program, to report such information to his/her supervisor, the General Counsel or the Corporate Compliance Officer, any employee who reports such information will have the right and opportunity to do so anonymously and will be protected against retaliation for making the report. The County obligates itself to swiftly and thoroughly investigate any reasonably credible report of fraud, waste, or abuse or any reasonable suspicion thereof through the County Compliance Program. Please note that the County retains the right to take appropriate action against an employee who has participated in a violation of law or hospital or County Policy.

B. State and Federal Fraud and Abuse Detection, Prevention and Employee Protection

What is the Federal False Claims Act?

The False Claims Act (31 USC 3729-33) (“FCA”) makes it a crime for any person or organization to knowingly make a false record or file a false claim with the government for payment. “Knowingly” means actual knowledge, deliberate ignorance or reckless disregard of facts that make the claim false.

The FCA does not require proof of a specific intent to defraud the United States government; instead health care providers can be prosecuted for a wide variety of conduct that leads to the submission of fraudulent claims to the government, including but not limited to the following:

- a. Knowingly billing for services that were not provided;
- b. Knowingly billing for services that were not ordered by the physician;
- c. Double-billing for items or services
- d. Submitting bills for services never performed or items never furnished;
- e. Billing for services that are not necessary for the treatment of patient;
- f. Billing for services that are more complex and at a higher reimbursement than the actual service provided (i.e., Up coding);
- g. Billing for services separately instead of billing the code that includes multiple services (i.e., Unbundling);
- h. Falsifying a diagnosis of justify test, surgeries or other procedures that are not medically necessary.

What are the FCA Penalties?

Violators of the FCA are liable under a civil penalty for each claim of not less than $5,500 and not more than $11,000, plus up to three times the amount of damages sustained by the federal government.

How is the FCA Enforced? What is a “Qui Tam” Lawsuit?

The FCA is enforced by a civil action commenced by either the government or private citizens. To encourage individuals to come forward and report misconduct involving ‘false claims’, the federal FCA includes a “qui tam” or whistleblower provision. This provision allows any person with actual knowledge of allegedly false claims to the government to file a lawsuit on behalf of the US government. Such a person is referred to as a “realtor”. Individuals seeking whistleblower status must meet several criteria. The whistleblower/realtor must file his/her lawsuit on behalf of the government in a federal district court. The lawsuit will be “under seal” meaning the lawsuit is kept confidential while the government reviews and investigates the allegation.

If the government decides not to join in the lawsuit the whistleblower may pursue the action alone. (The government may still join in later if it demonstrates good cause in doing so.)

What are the Whistleblower Protections?

The FCA also protects anyone who files a false claims lawsuit from being fired, demoted, threatened or harassed by his/her employer for filing the suit. If a court finds that the employer retaliated, the court can order the employer to re-hire the employee and to pay the employee twice the amount of back pay that is owed, plus interest and attorney fees.

New York State Labor Law Protections

New York Labor Law-740 provides that an employer may not take any retaliatory action against an employee if the employee discloses information about the employer's policies, practices or activities to a regulatory law enforcement or other similar agency or public official. The employee's disclosure is protected only if the employee first brought up the matter with a supervisor and gave the employer a reasonable opportunity to correct the alleged violation.

Whistleblower Rewards and Penalties

As an incentive to bring these cases, the FCA provides that whistleblowers who file a qui tam action may receive a reward of 15-30% of the monies recovered for the government plus attorneys' fees and costs. This reward may be reduced, however, if for example the court finds the whistleblower planned and initiated the violation. The FCA also provides that "whistleblowers" who bring frivolous qui tam claims can be held liable to a defendant for its attorneys' fees and costs.

Whistleblower Protection

- 1. New York Labor Law Section 740
 - a. An employer may not take any retaliatory action against an employee if the employee discloses information about the employer's policies, practices, or activities to a regulatory law enforcement or other similar agency or public official. Protected disclosures are those that assert that the employer is in violation of a law that created a substantial and specific danger to the public health and safety. The employee's disclosure is protected only if the employee first brought up the matter with a supervisor and gave the employer a reasonable opportunity to correct the alleged violation.
 - b. If an employer takes a retaliatory action against the employee, the employee may sue in state court for reinstatement to the same, or an equivalent position, any lost back wages and benefits and attorneys' fees. If the employer is a health provider and the court finds that the employer's retaliatory action was in bad faith, it may impose a civil penalty of $10,000 on the employer.
