

Lead Testing Timeframe And More Information

○ When should children be tested?

- Every child in New York must be tested at 1 year and again at 2 years of age.
- Risk for lead exposure should be done at each well-child visit or at least annually for each child six months to six years of age.
- Talk with your doctor about having your child tested or contact your local health department.

○ Where can I find out more information?

- On the web:
www.health.ny.gov/environmental/lead
www.cdc.gov/lead/
www.epa.gov/lead
www.fda.gov